

Table of Contents The Producer's Playbook: Real People on Camera by Amy DeLouise

I. Introduction

- Motivation and goals for this book
- The opportunities inherent in using "real people," not pro's
- How to use the tools and case studies in this book for a wide range projects involving real people on camera-- reality TV, documentary, podcasts, journalism, news magazine, and short-form non-fiction such as corporate, issue advocacy, education and training.

II. Preparation

Ch. 1 Getting to Know Your Subjects

- Researching Your Characters
- Validators and Character Foils
- Casting & Pre-Qualifying
- Casting Children
- Phone Pre-interviews
- Rounding up visual assets (photos, video, etc.)
- Knowing handlers
- When Pre-Interviews or Casting Aren't Possible or Wise

Ch. 2 Preproduction Logistics

- Budgeting and Bidding
- Scheduling to allow creativity and spontaneity
- Location Scouting
- Locations for Interviews
- Locations for re-enactments and b-roll
- Location agreements
- Talent Releases
- Other rights to be aware of
- Music rights
- Copyrighted artwork/sculptures/architecture

Ch. 3 Planning Your Story

- Story Arc Planning
- When Reality Demands a Script
- Planning for Scenarios and Re-enactments
- Planning for B-roll

III. In the Field

Ch. 4 Tools and Strategies

- Tapping into the Inner Performer
- Introducing Your Team
- Using Hair & Makeup as a "Way In"
- Managing EP's and Handlers
- Coaching without scaring

Ch. 5 Direct-to-Camera Delivery

- To Rehearse or Not to Rehearse?
- Working with VIP's and Experts
- Working with Children
- Nervous or Worried Subjects
- Teleprompters
- From iPads and do-it-yourself to prompter operator systems
- Green-screen: When it works, when it doesn't
- Camera Set-up Layouts and Recommendations
- Case Studies: from Justin Bieber to Annie Lennox

Ch. 6 Scenarios & Re-enactments

- Maximizing the Advantages of Real People in Scenes
- Scenario vs Re-enactment: Which Do You Need?
- Scenario Shot Planning
- Obstacles and How to Avoid Them
- Challenging Scenario Settings
- Directing Kids in Scenarios
- Planning in the Field that affects Your Edit
- Master Shots, Camera Set-ups and Alternates
- Coverage Options with Video Cameras and DSLRs
- Post Production Strategies
- Tips for keeping on schedule & budget
- Case Study: Operating room safety "right way" "wrong way"
- Case Study: Documentary re-enactment

Ch. 7 Beyond the Soundbite: Storytelling Through Interviews

- Preparing for Your Interview
- Camera setup and interviewer on or off-camera decisions

Table of Contents The Producer's Playbook: Real People on Camera by Amy DeLouise

- Setting Your Subject at Ease
- Location considerations
- Crew positioning
- Creating a Story Arc with Interview Questions
- When to use Talking Points, When to Avoid Them
- Learning Styles and How They Impact Your Interview Strategy
- Getting B-roll of Interview Subjects
- Planning for Interview Post
- Transcriptions, Audio recognition, and making your editor happy
- Future-Proofing
- Edit Workflows for Multiple Deliverables
- Camera Set-up Recommendations (1-camera and 2-camera)
- Tips for keeping on schedule & budget

- Selecting the Right Team
- Food Matters
- Thanking and Mentoring

Ch. 12 Getting Approvals: from Storyboards to Final Cuts

- Group Think and How to Avoid It
- Strategies for Silos and Management Styles
- Turning Challenging People into Team Players
- Button-Pushers, Non-Deciders and People with Other Agendas
- Big Personalities and Inexperienced Leaders

Conclusions & Final Tips

Ch. 8 Challenging Interviews

- Young children
- Traumatized Subject
- Nervous/inexperienced
- VIPs, Celebrities and Experts
- ESOL & When to Use a Translator
- Experienced Interviewees
- Case Study: Palestinian youth in outside location
- Case Study: Philanthropic women in studio
- Case Study: Appalachian families at home
- Case Study: Woman who lost a child to SIDS

IV Managing Executive Producer, Crew & Client Relationships

Ch. 9 Defining the Mission

- Connecting to Strategic Plans
- Knowing the Players

Ch. 10 Workflows and Planning

- Tools for Information-Sharing
- Creating Value and Multiple Deliverables

Ch. 11 Cultivating Your Crew Relationships

- Setting Expectations